Employed On Hamilton Journal

A few days ago, in referring to the presence in this city of Harry M. Slicks, a printer, now employed in Hamilton, Ohio, it was erroneously stated that he was employed in the office of the Hamilton News. It so happens that the News is an open shop paper and as Mr. Slicks is a union printer he has been caused some embarrassment. He is employed by the Hamilton Journal.

Critics Praise Gordon's Show

"The Sweetheart Show" opened in New York this week and the carping critics there fervently praised this production, which evidently is in for a long run at the Knickerbocker theatre. Roy Gordon of this city is prominent cast in the piece, which played an all summer engagement in Chicago.

OF PORTSMOUTH

Suspect Is In Jail

William Smith, aged 22, coal miner for the Portsmouth Refractories company at Firebrick, Lawrence county, has been arrested and lodged in the county jail at Ironton on suspicion of being the man who made a murderous attack on William Donley, aged 25, day laborer for the Harrison-Walker company at Firebrick last Monday night.

A shot was fired at Donley through an open window the bullet striking him in the back of the head while he was busy at his work. The bullet penetrated the skull but came out a few inches from where it entered. Donley has not been so well the last two days, the wound giving him considerable pain.

Smith is said to be the young man suspected the night of the shooting and the one for whom search had been made. According to Lawrence county officials Smith had been missing since the night of the shooting and he did not return to his shanty until Friday when he was arrested by Constable Carter of Lawrence county. When arrested Smith was at the Firebrick pumping station. He lived in a shanty about half a mile from the Donley shanty. The two men at one time were said to be good friends. Robbery was said to be the motive for the shooting. Smith denies his guilt.

Complaints Are Heard By The Health Board

The only business considered by the City Health Board in session Friday afternoon at the mayor's office outside the regular routine was a complaint from property owners living in the vicinity of Second and Madison streets relative to sanitary inspectors attempting to compel them to tap into a sanitary sewer which is in bad condition, it is claimed.

The sewer in question, which was constructed by the former administration, was not properly put in and will have to be rebuilt before it will drain and the property owners declare that to force them to tap into the sewer now will result in a worse sanitary condition than now exists. The discussion resulted in a request to the service department to investigate with a view of furnishing some relief.

J. Q. Adams, of Hobbsden avenue, appeared before the board in response to a citation by Sanitary Police Officer William West to explain his failure to comply with orders to make sanitary taps. Adams asked for an extension of time to do the work inasmuch as he has four taps to make and after much discussion his request was granted.

The schedule amounting to $853.50

was allowed and the usual monthly reports were read and filed.

Health Commissioner O. D. Tatje reported that a number of dogs which bit children were placed in quarantine for observation during the month but none developed rabies. His report on contagious diseases for August was: Scarlet fever, 3, diphtheria, 4, whooping cough, 1, pulmonary tuberculosis, 1, typhoid, 2.

City Physician G. R. Micklethwait made 55 calls during the month and Plumbing Inspector William West made 267 inspections and collected $117.25 in fees.

GOOD HEALTH HINTS

Oklahoma Farmer Given Sound Advice on Avoiding Sickness.—Used Black-Draught—30 Years.

Cameron, Okla.—"I have used Theodore's Black-Draught for about thirty years, and certainly ought to know by this time what a good medicine it is," says Mr. T. L. Bostley, a well-known farmer of this place. "My father has passed his threescore-and-ten year, but declares his health still is good. 'And I can say, Black-Draught did it all.'"

"Where there is a lot of malaria, liver medicine is a necessity, and I have never found one better than Black-Draught," continues the Oklahoma man. "It is one that I know to be reliable. I use it for the liver, stomach, constipation, indigestion, and it has done me a world of good. We use it for the family, and it gives satisfaction."

"Most trouble, or sickness, comes from the liver, and it taken care of can be avoided. That is why I use Black-Draught as I do. I am much pleased with results obtained."

Theodore's Black-Draught is a purely vegetable. It acts on the bowels, gently stimulating the liver, and thereby causes the normal flow of bile into the intestines. It assists in the digestion of food, and relieves constipation in a prompt and natural way.

Ask your druggist for a package of Theodore's Black-Draught. 77 N. 10th St., New York.

MISS DOLLY WISE

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

MISS WISE—Will you please print a recipe for cleaning corn.

A READER.

Corned Corn—Eight cups corn cut in half, one-half cup of salt, two cups of sugar. Put in kettle, cook as for table use. Pack in pint glass jars, pour the liquid over the top, seal up tight, place in cool dark room. This recipe fills two quart or four pint jars. It is fine—can't tell from corn cut off the cob when used.

Here is another way—Eleven cups of corn, one cup of sugar, one-half cup of salt, two and one-half cups of water. Cook 20 minutes in a granite kettle and seal. In cutting the corn off the cob make but one cutting and you will find that it preserves the flavor better, as the salt will soften kernels if they are too fine.

Dear Dolly—Please print a recipe for corn salad.

MRS. X. Y. Z.

Corn Salad—Chop one large head of cabbage, six onions chopped fine, add one quart of vinegar, one cup of sugar, one fourth pound of prepared mustard salt to taste. Cook 15 minutes. Add one dozen green corn cut from the cob, cook 15 minutes longer, put in glass jars and seal. Is very fine and will keep all winter.

Dear Dolly—I am a married woman. Been married two years and have a baby eight months old. My husband does not love me and my people do not love me and no one seems to love me. What would you do if you were in my place?

MRS. X. Y. Z.

First of all I would wonder why no one loved me. I would think perhaps that I was selfish and did not do my part to make people care for me. Your choice was made two years ago when you married. Now you must work for love and happiness. Are you considerate of your husband? Or are you irritable and forget that he works hard all day and would like to come home to a companionable wife? I realize that your lot is hard. To keep up the home and take care of a baby is no easy task. Try to love your work. See how efficiently you can do each task. This will help you find it more interesting. In time people will appreciate your efforts, too.

Dear Miss Wise—What do you think of a mother that will set a bad example to her little children by using coarse language and doing mean things in front of them. She is sore because her children haven't got as nice things as some of the neighbors and she does not hesitate to express her opinion in front of her little ones.

AN OBSERVER.

That mother may not realize it, but she is doing her children a great wrong. An ideal of goodness should be presented to all children. This is not done, however; only too often a mother's words of greed and envy enter a child's heart. How much better to point out with what each one is blessed than to call attention to how much more someone else apparently has.

Dear Dolly—Will you give me the names and addresses of several popular movie stars?

MOVIE FAN.

Buy a movie magazine. There you will find addresses as well as other information which will interest you.

Dear Dolly—I am a boy ten years old and have a sister who plays the piano and another one who plays the violin and I would like to know what would be nice for me to play. I want something that we can all play together. I am in the fifth grade at school and would like to be an astronomer, as I like to study about the stars. We often go out and watch the stars and I think it most wonderful to watch the North Star, and Jupiter. I don't have much money to go on. How much is their salary and where do you go to study and where do you work when you are through. My sister wants you have to work on top of a mountain. I have asked mother and she told me to ask Miss Dolly Wise, so will you please tell me so I won't study so much. Dolly I am a poor boy. I don't think I look as well as other boys but I go to Sunday school every Sunday. I wear overalls during the week and I have a clean pair every Monday morning. I have a little bank account as mother wants me to save my money so I can go to college. My sister wants to go through high school too, and that will take a lot of money. I think I can work my way through. My ambition is to be a doctor or an astronomer and I have a good mother to help me. I am not afraid of poverty and work if I can gain in the end. Will you please tell me what you think of my ambitions and if I should be a doctor or astronomer. Dolly I need your help. Please publish this early as we live out of town.

POOR BUT PROUD.

I think it would be nice for you to learn to play the violin or the flute. A piano and first and second violin would be wonderful music, or the piano, violin and flute, make a nice little orchestra. I don't believe I'd be an astronomer if I were you. It's an interesting study, but you would have to spend years and years trying to work yourself up to a professional or a position worth while. You would have to go to some good college to study astronomy. You wouldn't have to work on top of a mountain, but many of the telescopes are mounted on top of high steel towers. The Lick Observatory, Mount Wilson, California has a telescope mounted on a 65 foot tower. Harvard

Preaching 7:30 p. m. by the pastor. Subject: "Deliverance from the Every Furnace."

Rev. Horst To Preach

It is expected that the Rev. Dr. George P. Horst will return today from his vacation, spent at his home in Detroit, Michigan. No doubt a large audience will greet him on his first appearance in the pulpit of the Second Presbyterian church since July. The second church has been open every Sunday during Dr. Horst's absence and is now ready for some extensive and intensive work during the coming fall and winter months. Although the summer season is not a time for aggressive church work, the attendance and spirit shown has been most gratifying. It is the church which extends a welcome to all and especially to the newcomer and the stranger.

N. & W. Employees Get $100,000 Back Pay

Twenty five hundred employees of the N. & W. in East Portsmouth were made happy Saturday when their back pay checks for June arrived in time to be distributed for Labor Day needs. The handsome sum of $100,000 was distributed among them.

Within the next week or ten days they will get their back pay for July when a like sum will be passed around. The new increase, which is about twenty percent will become effective August 1 so this will be the last back pay check to be received.

The pay roll of the N. & W. here every month is $500,000. It was slated at division headquarters Saturday or $250,000 every two weeks.

WANTED—Eight painters to go to work Tuesday morning. Phone 8381, 616 9th.

AUTO STOLEN; RECOVERED

A Studebaker automobile owned by Dr. C. C. Adams was stolen last night from where it was parked near the Masonic Temple building. He had purchased the machine the day before. Near midnight the machine was located at Seventh and Chillicothe street, where it was abandoned after the gasoline supply had run out.

Police say they are looking for three young men whom they claim stole the machine and later abandoned it.

GOING TO WILLIAMSON

Manager Fred Eberfeld will take the following players to Williamson Sunday—James, Weber, Spence, Townsend, Cooper, Fortner, Schweinsburg, Shoemaker, Rollins and Walls.

Manager Eberfeld and Business Manager Boyd. They will leave on the N. & W. six o'clock morning train Sunday. They will play two games at Williamson one on Sunday and one on Monday and will return to Portsmouth on the 6:45 train Monday evening.

Lust Car Is Returned

George Lust, 1006 Findlay street, was agreeably surprised when his automobile which disappeared from his garage one night early this week was returned to his place late Friday night.

It bore signs of hard usage. He stated Saturday that he knew who used his machine, but that he would not file any charges against the young man.

N. & W. Officials Here

A. C. Needles, vice president and operating manager of the N. & W. and J. P. Carey, general superintendent of the Western Division were in the city Saturday on an inspection tour. They were joined at Columbus by Supt. H. G. Vetter of this division who accompanied them to Williamson.

This Was Their Moving Day

Rev. D. C. Boyd and family are moving from Seventh and Washington streets to their new home on Fourth street just vacated by Mrs. John Dillon. This home was purchased from Dr. P. J. Kline as a manse for the First Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Dillon and family moved into their home on Fifth street, which has just been vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Will Hosa. Mr. and Mrs. Hosa are moving into the Harry Pressler property on Park avenue, which they recently purchased.

OAK HILL

OAK HILL, Sept. 4.—Several members of the Stina family met at the old homestead near Gallia a few Sundays ago and spent an enjoyable day. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Stina and daughter, Roma; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gibbs (Stina Stina) and daughter Anna of Gallipolis; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Evans (Stina Stina) and daughter Ruth; Miss Ruth Stina and friend Mr. Bremer of Portsmouth; Mr. and Mrs. Stander Parry (Dora Stina) and daughter Mary Catherine; Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Stina and son Lewis Parry; Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Stina and children, Wilbur and Wilma of Oak Hill.

Ten new members from Oak Hill were taken into Weston Chase Chapter, No. 102, Order Eastern Star at Weston last Tuesday evening. They are Misses Rachel Anna and Hossam Jones, Elizabeth Davis and Ada Evans, Mrs. Naomi Jackson Potts, Mrs. Lester Stina, Mrs. David H. Williams, Messrs. Richard Davis, W. H. Miller and David H. Williams.

Boy Scout News

People on Chillicothe street yesterday were rather surprised to see a group of a half dozen boys holding large pastboard triangles up to their eyes and squinting along them, to the top of a telephone pole. Not many recognized that it was a group of First Class Scouts, who were being taught how to measure height, distance, etc., by Scout Executive Gillman. He had them make large pastboard triangles, and first showed them how to measure the height of buildings, etc., with them. Next he taught them how to measure the steepness of grades, by means of a couple of sticks such as a person could pick up by the side of the road, after which he took them across the Ohio, and showed them how to measure the width of a river, using nothing but a triangle, such as any one could make at any time out of a folded newspaper.

This is scouting. The Scouts are taught to take the things they find at hand, and make use of them to take care of themselves, or to find out what they want to know. These First Class Scouts will be examined on what they have learned at the court of honor to be held on Wednesday, September 8.

Mitchell To Fill Vacancy

Joseph W. Mitchell, the local abstractor, has been notified that he has been elected vice president of the Ohio Abstractors Association by the executive committee to fill a vacancy. The headquarters of the Abstractors Association is in Cleveland. The annual meetings are held at Cedar Point.

Sun Will Open Monday

Only two more days remain before the regular 1920-21 fall and winter season of the Sun theatre will be inaugurated. The playhouse, as speak and open as a new new play, will re-open at the matinee Monday, Labor Day, afternoon, September 6. A complete program of interwoven musical comedy and vaudeville will be offered during all the next week. The headliners will be Johnny Lund, the celebrated character comedian, and the fifteen beautiful Triangle Girls. Three shows will be given daily—a matinee and two evening performances. Popular prices will prevail. There will be a complete change of program at the matinee Thursday afternoon. Saturday afternoon, there will be a bargain matinee especially for women and children.

ANNOUNCING A CHANGE IN POLICY AT THE Auditorium

Beginning Labor Day, September 6th, dances will be given EVERY WEEK NIGHT at the AUDITORIUM, except Wednesdays.

Heretofore the delightful AUDITORIUM dances have been given on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights only, but the requests on the part of patrons for more frequent dances have been so many and so pressing that the management has yielded, and is opening the AUDITORIUM five nights a week.

Hill's splendid orchestra, the Happy Five, will render the music each night and their efficient performance in the past speaks many delightful evenings for AUDITORIUM patrons.

THE FINISHED MYSTERY

What Is The Mystery And When Was It Finished?

A FREE BIBLE LECTURE

By C. B. Shull V. D. M. of Columbus, Ohio.

In Temple Theatre

Sunday, Sept. 5th, at 2:30 P. M.

More than One Thousand Portsmouth citizens have bought the book "THE FINISHED MYSTERY" within the past 30 days.

The lecture will deal with some of the subject matter of this wonderful book. Those identified with this Bible treatise have suffered more religious prosecution than has been heaped upon any Christians since Prof. Tyndale made his first English translation of the Bible. The courts have decided that those so persecuted were guilty of no wrong. Why this bitterness and persecution?

Every THINKING Christian should hear Mr. Shull. He is recognized as one of the foremost Bible scholars of America. Wholly devoted to the service of God—A convincing, eloquent speaker and a sincere Christian Gentleman, it will do you good to hear him.

Both Sides Firm In Street Car Strike

NEW YORK, September 4.—Conflicting claims regarding Brooklyn's transit tie-up were made today by officials of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company and its striking employees who quit work nearly a week ago to enforce demands for a 50 percent wage increase and recognition of the closed shop principle.

While Receiver Blinley M. Garrison, who yesterday issued an ultimatum that retention of seniority by the strikers would depend upon their return to work before next Wednesday, declared more than 800 men had resumed work, Louis M. Prillger, attorney for the union, claimed the strikers' forces were virtually intact.

Both sides appeared to accept the deadlocked situation today and to prepare for a long fight; and both sides appeared optimistic in their prediction of ultimate victory. Meanwhile, traffic on the subway, elevated and surface lines throughout Brooklyn, continued to improve.

DEMPSEY AND MISKE TRAINED TO THE MINUTE

DENTON HARBOR, Mich., Sept. 4.—Official announcement as to the referee of the ten round bout here Monday afternoon between Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, and Billy Miske, the challenger, was expected today. Indications were favorable to the selection of Sir Douglas of Philadelphia, a personal friend of Dempsey.

Dempsey looks to be ready and says he is eager for the battle. "I am as fit as I was for Willard," the champion said. "I feel as if I could go fifty rounds at top speed. I will be glad to get into the ring to continue my enemies that I am as good as not better than when I defeated Willard."

The rubber checked Miske is which he is training supremely confident that he will hold the champion evened out. Dempsey will not knock him out. The challenger is finely tuned to 190 pounds of bone and muscle.

Wiedemanns Here On Sunday And Monday Cardinals On Tuesday

(Bulletin) It was officially stated that in case of rain Tuesday and it is impossible for the St. Louis and All Stars to play their game at Millbrook Park, holders of tickets will be given their money back. Owner Gableman has authorized the above statement.

The fans of Portsmouth—and they are legion—are as happy as kids on Christmas morn, due to the excellent menu that has been prepared by Owner William Gableman, who has arranged three big days for their enlightenment and edification. On Sunday, the Wiedemanns team of Newport, Ky., will meet Gabe's All Stars at Millbrook Park and will rest over night and play again on Labor Day. There is little use to waste space in telling of the strength of the Wiedemanns. This team is recognized as one of the best semi-pro clubs in the country and has defeated the All Stars twice this season and hope to make it four in a row. In this way they have their work cut out for them for the locals are going along great and declare the worst they can receive will be an even break. They contend they will win both these games which will give them the odd game. It is understood, Wiedemanns at Millbrook Park, Sunday and Monday—great crowd—great games—regular scale of admission.

And then on Tuesday—yes, what a treat to see the St. Louis Nationals, led by Manager Branch Rickey, take the field against the All Stars. This is going to be the biggest attraction that was ever staged at Millbrook Park and the way tickets are selling, several years will be out. Interest in this big affair is at white heat. There are many thirty-second degree fans in this town who never saw a big league team in action. They have heard of Babe Ruth, of Roger Hornsby, Ty Cobb and other celebrities, but have never lamped players of that caliber in action. They are going to get their eyes full on Tuesday when the St. Louis Cardinals take the field against the All Stars. They will then be in line to tell their grand children how Roger Hornsby, one of the greatest hitters the game ever knew, slammed one against the left field fence—how that Blue Creek Phenom, Anshu McHenry, tore across three acres of ground and picked a blur off the grass in his bare mitt—how Catcher Dillhoefer reached to the top of the grand stand and picked a bushel of foul flies—some tale for the kids, eh?

Owner Gableman is taking a big financial risk in bringing the Cardinals here. The guarantee will reach four figures and it will be necessary for the fans to rally strong to meet the amount. However, the way tickets are selling and based on the interest, the crowd will justify Mr. Gableman's confidence. He is being given loyal support by the Chamber of Commerce, and the entertainment of the Cardinals will be left entirely to the hands of this wideawake organization. There will be a banquet and automobile rides through the country—there will also be speech making and perhaps presents for McHenry and Dillhoefer.

It was stated last evening during a fan fest, that every player in the Industrial League had agreed to be present at the game, and judging from reports from all sections every fan in the city will be there. Remember, but 900 grand stand seats at $1.00 will be sold, although there will be no limit to the $1.00 seats, which will entitle the holder to a seat in the bleachers along the third base lines—anywhere so they don't interfere with the players. The game will not start until 3:30 o'clock, which will give practically every person who so desires a chance to attend the great contest.

Ruether Does Right Thing

Ruether's return, with a strong arm and good intentions, mean everything, and up to the time he went bloody, Ruether had won 16 games and lost ten, a percentage of 61.6. In all of the team's percentage, and showing his great class as a southpaw slinger. Between now and October 2, Ruether should pitch at least six games, and should win not less than four of the six. That sort of work would turn the scales, almost enough the pennant, and make Ruether doubly strong with the fans.

Fine Start In St. Louis

The Reds have certainly secured a fine start in St. Louis, coping the first two on an important series. Two more remain to be played in Ruether's town and then the teams will jump to Cincinnati.

Luque Proves Arm Is O. K.

Luque's arm is alright. He proved that yesterday when the game ended with him blanking the hard hitting Cardinals for six innings and then retired in favor of a recruit. Luque is a bear on the mound and will be a big help to Moran in his last drive of the season.

Optimistic thought. The state belongs to no man but every man belongs to the state.

BIG GAME AT OTWAY SUNDAY

The decks are all cleared and the stars set for the hot struggle expected when the McDermott and Otway ball teams clash on the latter's diamond Sunday afternoon. There is much rivalry between the players of the two teams as well as their admirers and a great throng is expected to witness the contest. For many years, McDermott was the first game of the series, recently and expect to make it a bitter dose by humiliating their opponents who are confident of reversing the verdict of the first contest and put them on even terms.

Local Solvay Team To Play Freeburn Club

The Portsmouth Solvay Coke company ball team left Friday night for the N. & W. for Freeburn, W. Va., where the Industrial League champions will clash this afternoon with the diamond warriors representing the Freeburn Coal company, which is controlled by the Solvay company.

There were 11 players besides Manager Clyde W. Barton in the party which left here last night on the invasion. All the players being taken on the trip to guard against accident and any emergency for it was realized that the champions will be up against a stiff proposition in combating the crack coal miners. It is expected that Daughman or Townsend will do much duty in an effort to bring home the bacon.

The Freeburn team is scheduled to come here for a return game on Sept. 27.

Only 8 More Home Games

Fans, would you believe it the Reds have only eight more games to play at home. New York has 20 and Brooklyn 16. This does not bother the Redlegs as they play better away from home than they do on their own home lot. The team's pitchers are in shape. Watch them step some.

Is After Youngsters

Scout Billy Doyle has returned from a swing through several leagues in the East. He has his eye on several promising youngsters and hopes soon to sign them up for the Detroit team.

Moving to Portsmouth. Mrs. Will Smith and children will leave today for Portsmouth where they join Mr. Smith, who is employed there. They will make their future home in that city.—Inquirer Register.

Boxing Matches Off

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Tex Rickard, boxing promoter, announced last night that resumption of boxing bouts in Madison Square Garden, scheduled for next Wednesday night, had been indefinitely postponed. Rickard, who has a ten-year lease on the garden, also declared that the proposed bout between Henry Leon, a lightweight champion, and Eddie Fitzgerald, contender for the title, had been called off. "Until the two bouts begin to function actively, I can make no plans for the future," Rickard said.

Tate And Langford May Meet In Huntington

HUNTINGTON, Sept. 4.—What promises to be the biggest boxing contest ever staged in the city of Huntington or in the tri-state region will be given here if plans divulged by Pat Canapa last night are carried out. No less a person than Sam Langford, the Boston Tar Baby, one of the most picturesque characters in the ring will be here for the bout.

And listen, his partner will be Big Bill Tate, sparring partner of Jack Dempsey, world's champion heavyweight boxer. The referee, whom everyone knows is just about as important as anyone in the ring, will be Jack Dempsey himself.

A QUEER SITUATION

THE politicians are seething with politics and the newspapers are full of the business, but the people refuse to become excited, it is doubtful if they are at all interested.

Look at the primary, in Michigan, Tuesday. In that state a Republican nomination is regarded as equivalent to a certificate of election, there were nine candidates for governor and yet in many of the precincts not more than twenty-five per cent of the regular party vote was polled. This too notwithstanding women had a right to the ballot also. They were far more indifferent to their newly acquired privilege than the men.

Possibly, after the revelations of corruption in the Newberry senatorial election the voters may have feared suspicion would attach to them, but that is not at all likely. The most probable reason is the voters are confused and disgusted. During the war they heard nothing but what a wonderful panacea a league of nations was to be for all quarrels and contentions of the world, now the war is over and a league of nations formulated they are confronted with a tumultuous outcry that the very thing they had to come to believe in is the most deadly cure the nations could take and they know not what to think or to do, so they just let things drift along.

MOST NEEDFUL INSTITUTIONS

A S a general thing Americans do not regard their courts of law high enough.

That's rather strange, for as a rule, American courts have occupied a high plane and that they are one of the most essential and vital branches of a popular government has been demonstrated a thousand different times.

We do not know that they have ever been more vital so, however, than in the present emergency. Lately there has been apparently precipitated upon the country a change that will alter its affairs of long established custom and—perhaps alter its destiny altogether.

Reference is had, of course, to the incorporation of woman's suffrage into the constitution. This is referred to as apparent because the actual fact of it has become a question of legal fact, the like of which has never before been called up for establishment. As is familiar, Tennessee was the thirty-sixth state to record to adopt woman's suffrage, thereby making it a constitutional condition. In a war of law technicalities the proponents of the amendment outgeneraled the opponents thereof and got the action of the legislators of Tennessee certified to the secretary of state of the United States, who promptly certified the national amendment was adopted. But here comes the lower house of the Tennessee legislature and rescinds its action of adoption.

Thus is precipitated the issue as to whether or not there has been a legal adoption. Ordinarily a branch of a legislature has a right to repeal or rescind act or resolution. Can a branch thereof do the same thing, at a continuing session?

That's the question and the problem. It is one for the courts to decide and it is well that we have them and of such character that the honesty and integrity of the conclusion at which they arrive is not to be questioned.

Newspapers sometimes perpetrate blunders as apt as they are startling. For instance the Cincinnati Enquirer, of yesterday, had an item headed: "Ohioan Outwits Bandits," which stated that a woman, formerly an Ohioan, was running for senator in New York against the Republican machine candidate. The headline was intended to go over an account of the holdup of an Ohioan in another state.

A little contents some people. Roscoe McCulloch, who ran a poor third for governor in the Republican primaries, says he is satisfied. Maybe he is right also. His vote cost him only about 12½ cents a head.

Lodge can't stand the gaff. He is "sore all over" because of criticism of him by the Democratic national convention and regards it as out of place. Yet, he violated all the decrees by delivering as chairman of the Republican national convention a speech devoted almost solely to vituperation of Wilson.

Poor old Democratic party, it had to expose its rags to the whole world. The senate committee investigating campaign expenses is informed, that with the close of the San Francisco convention it had assets of $645 in cash and liabilities of $100,000.

How delightful it would be if some genius would devise a scheme of storing up these rains not needed against the days when they will be needed.

After reading the testimony of William H. Hays, whose fitness for the job has been more than duly exploited, one must, perforce, change his ideas of what are the requirements of the chairman of a national convention, as Mr. Hays shows a broad and altogether comprehensive ignorance of what his committee is doing in the way of raising funds. Still he knows and is sure of it that any statement made by Governor Cox regarding the activity of his committee in frying the fat out of 'em is untrue, because he writes it down to begin with and then reiterates it by word of mouth several times.

Wobbling around again Harding is going to form a league of nations of his own. Thirty-nine nations are in the original one. This leaves him Germany, Turkey and Russia as possible side-partners in the enterprise.

The state fair is on, bigger, better and brighter than ever. In all the country there is nothing to compare with it, in its line.

You never can tell. Three months ago Cuban planters were represented as rolling in wealth and refusing to sell this year's crop of sugar at 19 cents. Now they are begging the world to take it at 11 cents and the cruel world answers 8 cents or nothing.

The home watermelon is on the market. All watermelons are good, but there is none like the home variety.

Ponzi showed an amazing ignorance of the simplest rules and laws of finance, yet it was in the intellectual hub that he raked in millions upon millions to return in forty-five days with fifty cents profit.

The DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

CECIL HAD FORGOTTEN THE KISSES, BUT LINDSEY HAD NOT

Well, we did a powerful lot of shopping, and mother really did buy me some very fetching evening wraps, plus some wonderful furs, that made me hug her right in the shop. She is so good to me—especially now. Guess it's because she knows that she is going to lose me soon, and all that.

Och, I forgot to say that I told Aunt Cecilia about meeting Cecil, and it upset her no end, much to my surprise. I finally asked her quite peevishly why she was so worried just because poor old Cecil was on the spot. "And she made answer, most mysteriously, "That's just it; he is on the spot!"

Now I ask you, isn't that an extraordinary remark from a sane woman? "And you're such an impulsive child!" was another of her erratic remarks, to my young self.

But of course I soon realized that it was not the slightest use in the world to argue with a relative—a female relative, who is about to be married. I know when to stop, I do.

Just as soon as we had finished our shopping tour, mother and I hied us to a comfy tea shop, and had several cups of liquid amber. That's just what tea is in this country, the most delicious and fragrant beverage imaginable. We lingered over this ceremony, for we were both tired, and then at five-thirty I remembered that I was due in Kensington Gardens at six. So I made the best excuse I could to mother, and after seeing her into a taxi, breezed away.

Cecil was waiting for me, under our friendly oak tree, all smiles. He looked a different man from the one I had found there in that spot just twenty-four hours earlier. Youth does recuperate quickly, without a doubt; that's why it dispels so!

His smile at the sight of me was most cheering. I must say, for I have been so long without the warming smile of a man that Cecil's looked unit seemed particularly grateful to me. Anyhow we are cousins, after all, and have seen enough of each other to feel perfectly at home with three and me—and that's a factor in itself.

It was another gorgeous sunset, and we were like two kids, just full of laughter and gladness. It did seem good to be with Cecil, after all. And he does seem to understand me pretty well.

Of course he wanted to know the reason for my downheartedness, and in the end I told him, for after all he had not held back our confidences from me, and I felt that I should trust him, just as he had done me.

When I told him of having received but two scraps of notes from Jack in the past two weeks or more, and of not having received any letter at all on this last steamer, which brought Jeffers and all that, he was very thoughtful and sympathetic. Told me not to worry unnecessarily, that there were probably a batch of letters on the way now, and that nothing was wrong or I would have had a cable.

I pointed out to him that I did not think that anything was wrong with Jack's health or anything like that. Nay, such saunders were my feminine suspicions—and then it came out, of course, all about Barbara being there, and all my worst thoughts about that young person.

Cecil laughed when I had finished and assured me that if Jack could be attracted to that foolish creature, Barbara, more than he was to a girl like me, I was well rid of him. But such a thing was impossible! "Besides cousins are not so dangerous to each other as all that. Take you and me, for instance. You don't care a tinker's cuss for me; never have left any sort of even a passing emotion for me. I

BILLY WHISKER

Billy felt his heart beat hard and fast and for a moment his knees trembled under him. He backed slowly up to the solid deck and the great flaming eyes slowly crept up after him. Billy still backed away. The men who had been chasing him were now very close; but one of them saw the tiger's head coming up on the deck and he yelled to the others who immediately pressed back. As soon as he felt the firm deck floor under him and could see the animal's head as well as his eyes, Billy felt his courage coming back to him. He knew that he had to stand and fight. He felt that he could never run fast enough to get away from this powerful animal, and that before he could even turn and start to run the tiger would be upon him.

Slowly Billy backed away with his sharp horns lowered, and slowly the tiger came out on the deck, crouched down until his body almost touched the boards, his tail full of hard muscles, waving slowly like a red and yellow snake. The men were panic-stricken and scattered in all directions seeking places of safety wherever they could find them. Poor Hans Zug was the slowest of all. In his fright he stumbled over his own feet and fell three times to his hands and knees. In trying to get away, and then he tried to hide himself behind a slim iron rod that ran up from the deck to the bridge, for he was too much paralyzed with fear to pursue his hunt any further for some safe hiding place.

The tiger was not in a very big hurry about making his spring. He did not like the looks of Billy's horns, although he knew that he was much stronger and more powerful than the little white goat. Still they came on, Billy backing away and the tiger creeping toward him until they were almost within Billy's teeth clamped. Suddenly the tiger with a swift spring went up in the air, intending to jump clear over Billy's long horns and land on his back, but Billy himself as watchful and careful as the tiger had been, springing aside just as the tiger jumped, locking his head sharply upward as the tiger went over. One of his horns caught in the tiger's under side and ripped a big grab in him. Billy immediately sprang in the other direction, and the tiger now fiercer than ever, wheeled quickly. This time his sharp claw caught Billy's shoulder as Billy jumped aside, tearing a big patch of Billy's hide loose. The pain staggered Billy and made him feel faint but he knew it would never do to give up. The animal men now came running up from the rear hold, where some of the other animals were being fed, and one of them had a pistol know, so you can prove the folly of your suspicions by remembering this. I finished scarlet all over at this remark, and I saw Cecil's eyes widening in surprise. But he never indicated in any way that he had noticed same. I was thinking of some of his kisses on the bench at Long Island in the moonlight! He had evidently forgotten them, as is the way with men.

But the two animals were jumping about so swiftly that he could not be sure of shooting the tiger without shooting Billy, so he waited to see how the fight would turn out.

And tomorrow you'll hear how Billy fared with the tiger. Copyrighted by the Sanfield Publishing Co., Akron, O.

The Faithful Nurse
The husband arrived home much later than usual "from the office." He took off his boots and stole into the bedroom. His wife began to stir. Quickly the nurse-stricken man went to the cradle of his first-born and began to rock it vigorously.

"What are you doing there, Robert?" queried his wife.
"I've been strolling here for nearly two hours trying to get this baby to sleep," he growled.

"Why, Robert, I've got him here in bed with me," replied his wife.
"Then there were words,"—The Bits.

The Mysterious Fascination
"I don't approve of some of these popular songs," remarked the severe person.
"You don't have to pay any attention to those you disapprove!"
"Oh, yes I do. There's the worst of it. They are the very ones that keep running through my head,"—Washington Star.

Marion Didn't Care
The principal of a certain school for girls had occasion to speak sharply to one of the pupils.
"Marion," he said sharply, "you're neglecting your work shamefully, and you must remain with me an hour after school."

New-York - Day - By - Day

BY O. O. MINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Unless an outrageous citizenry rebels, there seems to be nothing left but (timely to submit to police clubbing, without provocation, on New York streets. Just now a rowdy populace is afloat at the suspension of two brutal policemen who clubbed two men into insensibility and left them each bleeding in one eye. The victims were not resting. Miss Dorothy Hunter is a young musical comedy actress from California who is appearing with Fred Floren. She drove into one of the side streets in the Forties one night recently to park her car while she made a hurried visit to a stage door.

A bright particular Mr. Galsford of "New York's Finest" felt her through the side of his mouth to get the truth out of her. Miss Hunter drove around the block, left her car in another spot, saw that a taxi—which got special privileges for some unexplained reason—parked where her car was and as she passed the policeman said in half jest: "Now does this suit you?"

It evidently did not. For with a muttered oath he headed at the young girl, who is it and in about ten seconds she was under arrest. She was so amazed by the suddenness of the attack that she swooned and when she revived she was being dragged by the wrists through the streets to a police station.

Miss Hunter, however, was not completely cowed and before she reached the station she told her rough neck ascert in unobtrusively but expressive language that she regarded him as a "foolish-minded slum." This was less majestic. When she reached the station she was thrown into a room with a lot of half-dressed policemen who jested at her and asked her insulting questions.

She was denied the privileges of telephoning to her sisters who were by this time distracted by her absence. Finally she was bundled into a patrol wagon with thieves, women of the streets and the pickers of the underworld. It was a kind-headed man on the side of his mouth to get the truth out of her. SUB VICTIMS CHEATED DEATH IN HARD BATTLE; BORED HOLE IN STEEL HULL AND FLASHED SIGNAL

WIG-WAGGEDUNDERSHIRT THRUST ON TOP OF POLE; RESCUED-WANTSCIGARET

PHILADELPHIA, PA., September 4.—The United States submarine S-5 went to the bottom of the Atlantic ocean off Cape Henlopen because a large air intake valve failed to close when the submarine made a practice dive in navy parlance a "crash dive." There were thirty-eight officers and enlisted men aboard. This was reported today in the official report of the accident made by the commander of the destroyer Beaver.

The Beaver is standing by the battleship Ohio which today is towing the ill-fated submarine to the Delaware breakwater, creeping along about three miles an hour. Nothing had been heard by naval authorities late this morning of the movements of the Ohio, but it is expected the flotilla will arrive at the breakwater, ninety miles down the Delaware from Philadelphia, late today.

It is revealing the desperate plight of the imprisoned men, the Beavers' report tells of the accident and work of rescue.

It discloses that it was largely due to the work of the imprisoned men under the direction of Lieutenant Commander Charles M. Cooke, Jr., that they were saved and that it was their desperate efforts and not a telephone buoy, as first reported, that attracted attention of the rescuing ships.

The crew was left in the stern of their ship which was above water. This supplied a ray of hope and working as they never worked before they gouged a small hole through the iron hull. To do this they climbed up the side of the ship standing at angle of about sixty degrees.

Through this hole they thrust a pole, a sailor's white undershirt tied to it and wigwagged signals of distress which were seen by the steamship Maunabo the first vessel to pass, 27 hours later.

The report of the Beaver shows that the accident occurred at 2 p. m. Wednesday. With the boat at the bottom in 168 feet of water, the men worked desperately. Some of the water was expelled and the stern rose slowly, but the storage batteries had been flooded, producing chlorine fumes, the same gas that was released from tanks by the Germans in their first gas attacks in the world war.

The chlorine fumes drove the crew from the compartments. With the batteries flooded they presumably were forced to work practically in darkness, aided only by small flashlights.

The men worked in two-men relays. They could not stand it for a longer period. The chlorine sank to the bow of the ship but there was no fresh air and the oxygen was rapidly being exhausted.

Breathing and panting, the men worked at the hull. It was slow work. Finally a hole was made and a thin bubble of fresh air floated in.

The saving personnel was a small feat. Slightest mistake, after a moment on part of officers would have resulted in loss of some or all," tersely said the Beaver report.

Members of the crew of a destroyer which arrived at the Philadelphia navy yard after having been at the scene of the disaster, declared the accident was due to negligence on the part of a member of the crew of the S-5. Officers would say nothing, referring inter-

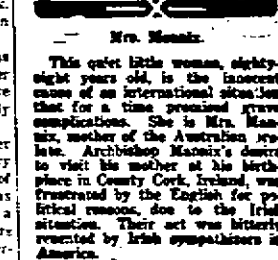

State Fair Will Close Tonight

COLUMBUS, O., September 4.—Ohio's eleventh State Fair will end tonight, setting a new record for attendance and variety and quantity of exhibits.

Everything will be in place today, except live stock, which was released yesterday at 4 p. m. There are to be automobile races at 1 p. m. today, instead of horse races, and regular night attractions.

MANNIX'S MOTHER INNOCENT CAUSE OF MUCH TROUBLE

This quiet little woman, eighty-eight years old, is the innocent cause of an international situation that for a time promised grave complications. She is Mrs. Mannix, mother of the Australian statesman, Archibald Mannix's daughter to visit his mother at his birthplace in County Cork, Ireland, was frustrated by the English for political reasons, due to the Irish situation. Their act was bitterly resented by Irish sympathizers in America.

Owing to the fact that Monday is Labor Day, there will be no issue of the Times on that day. The employees of the Times will have the entire day to themselves and will so doubt join in the celebrations that are arranged in honor of the day.

STATE TREASURE RESIGNS

BOSTON, September 4.—The resignation of State Treasurer Fred J. Borrell announced last night was the principal topic of discussion of political circles here today. Borrell, who was elected on the Republican ticket last November resigned as a result of a disturbance in the party that followed repeated allegations that he had solicited advertising from banks for an agency which he coedited.

In announcing his resignation the state treasurer said: "I do so not because I did any wrong, but because the pain and anguish of mind that has come to my aged mother and the members of my family by the unwarranted attacks upon me has grieved me and rather than cause them any further pain, I am sacrificing myself."

He requested his supporters throughout the state not to vote for him at the coming primaries, as he had no further wish to hold public office.

Soviet Forces Driven Back

CONSTANTINOPLE, September 4.—General Baron Wrangel, head of the South Russian anti-Bolshevik government, has launched a successful counter-offensive in the regions of Orlikov and Melitopol, north of the Sea of Azov, according to dispatches received here. It is said the Soviet forces have been driven out of Novo Alexiense.

Boy Scouts Coming Back From France

NEW YORK, September 4.—The 301 Boy Scouts of America, returning from a tour of the battlefields in France as guests of the French government, are due to arrive here today on board the army transport Princess Matoka. Extensive plans for their entertainment while in New York have been made by national Boy Scout headquarters here.

The Princess Matoka also brings back the first contingent of the American contestants in the Olympic games at Antwerp.

"Some" Booze Confiscated

BOSTON, September 4.—Whiskey valued at approximately $250,000 was seized during the last week while it was being illegally transported through New England, according to Federal Prohibition Agent William J. McCarthy. The seized liquor was described as "New York output."

Tennessee Antis Play Last Card

NASHVILLE, TENN., September 4.—A certified copy of the Tennessee house of representatives journal of last Tuesday when an attempt was made to rescind ratification by that body of the federal suffrage amendment, was in the mails today enroute to Secretary of State Colby at Washington. Governor Roberts announced he had transmitted the papers at the request of the house.

Opponents of suffrage were hopeful that certification of the house journal to the state department might aid them in their attempt to have the United States supreme court over-throw Tennessee's ratification of the suffrage amendment. They expressed confidence today that sending of the statement of the house's action Tuesday to Secretary Colby would result in this record becoming a part of the evidence that the courts are expected to view.

Suffragists, however, declared that transmission of the journal to Washington would not affect the validity of the suffrage proclamation issued by Secretary Colby.

TAKES A CROOK TO CATCH A CROOK

NEW YORK, September 4.—If any of the 25,000 men who had prison records at Sing Sing, within the past twenty-eight years, appear in New York's financial district below the famous "dead line", their actions are likely to be scrutinized by six of their old "prison" attendants, whose retirement from the institution was announced today.

Martin J. Deley and Frederick Decker, the two former attendants, who are said to be able to "spot" any face among the 25,000, have been employed by financial houses to keep a lookout for any of their old prison acquaintances.

WIFE OF HUNGER STRIKE LORD CABLES PRESIDENT WILSON TO HELP RELEASE HUSBAND

NOISELESS MACHINE GUN SHOTS TWO THOUSAND BALLS A MINUTE

Two views of the noiseless machine gun. A new invention that adds to the horrors of war is a noiseless machine gun that shoots 2,000 balls a minute. The balls are fed to the hopper from a sack which is shown in the photo at the right. The photo at the left shows a close up view of the shaft that rotates at the rate of 2,000 revolutions a minute. So rapid is the movement that it apparently does not revolve at all. The revolutions are caused by an electric motor.

LONDON, September 4.—Mrs. Trevelyan MacSwiney has cabled to President Wilson an appeal in behalf of her husband, the Lord Mayor of Cork, who has for several days been in a critical condition as a result of a hunger strike which began August 12, and which he is continuing in his cell in Brixton prison.

Mrs. MacSwiney asks Mr. Wilson to "use your influence with the English government to prevent the perpetration of an outrage on civilization."

She declares her husband is dying in an English prison.

Mayor MacSwiney was apparently weaker this morning and the prison doctors express great alarm. They advised his relatives that nobody should converse with him today.

The lord mayor spent a bad night, and this morning was very pale and faint from exhaustion, being able to speak only in gasps. The only indications that he was suffering severe pain were that his brow was heavily wrinkled and that his face was considerably more shrunken. He was still conscious, however.

Sean MacSwiney, his brother, remained with him during the night, and other members of the family are maintaining a constant watch.

Ladies' Night

Wiedemanns Here On Sunday And Monday Cardinals On Tuesday

(Bulletin) It was officially stated that in case of rain Tuesday and it is impossible for the St. Louis and All Stars to play their game at Millbrook Park, holders of tickets will be given their money back. Owner Gableman has authorized the above statement.

The fans of Portsmouth—and they are legion—are as happy as kids on Christmas morn, due to the excellent menu that has been prepared by Owner William Gableman, who has arranged three big days for their entertainment and edification. On Sunday, the Wiedemann team of Newport, Ky., will meet Gabe's All Stars at Millbrook Park and will rest over night and play again on Labor Day. There is little use to waste space in telling of the strength of the Wiedemanns. This team is recognized as one of the best semi-pro clubs in the country and has defeated the All Stars twice this season and hope to make it four in a row. In this way they have their work cut out for them, for the locals are going along great and declare the worst they can receive will be an even break. They contend they will win both these games which will give them the odd game. Remember, Wiedemanns at Millbrook Park, Sunday and Monday—great crowd—great games—regular scale of admission.

And then on Tuesday—yes, what a treat to see the St. Louis Nationals, led by Manager Branch Rickey, take the field against the All Stars. This is going to be the biggest attraction that was ever staged at Millbrook Park and the way tickets are selling, the banner crowd of the year—yes, several years, will be out. Interest in this big affair is at white heat. There are many thirty-second degree fans in this town who never saw a big league team in action. They have heard of Babe Ruth, of Roger Hornsby, of Ty Cobb and other celebrities, but Royal avenue, Belfast, the scene of many riots, and Sir Edward Carson.

Belfast, main city of Ulster, is one of the centers of the civil war now rending Ireland. Boxing Matches Off

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Tex Rickard, boxing promoter, announced last night that resumption of boxing bouts in Madison Square Garden, scheduled for next Wednesday night, had been indefinitely postponed.

Rickard, who has a ten-year lease on the garden, also declared that he proposed to wait for official action by the National Boxing Commission and the New York State Athletic Commission. "Until the two bodies begin to function actively, I can make no plans for the future,"

Tate And Langford May Meet In Huntington

HUNTINGTON, Sept. 4.—What promises to be the biggest boxing contest ever staged in the city of Huntington or in the tri-state region will be given here if plans divulged by Pat Canepa last night are carried out.

No less a person than Sam Langford, the Boston Tar Baby, one of the most picturesque characters in the ring will be here for the bout.

And listen, his partner will be Big Bill Tate, sparring partner of Jack Dempsey, world's champion heavyweight boxer.

The referee, whom everyone knows is just about as important as anyone in the ring, will be Jack Dempsey himself.

HE GETS ALL THE THRILLS OF FLYING, DOES THIS POLE VAULTING CHAMPION

Frank K. Foss.

Aviation would have few added thrills for Frank K. Foss, world's greatest pole vaulter. This new wonder broke his own world's record when he hung up a new one at the Olympic games, hurling himself over the bar at the height of 13 feet 3 1/2 inches. From the time he "takes off" at the end of his run until he lands in the pit under the bar after soaring through the air in an arc at the end of his pole he has done a fair job of flying. Foss is a former Cornell student.

DEMPSEY AND MISKE TRAINED TO THE MINUTE

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Sept. 4.—Official announcement as to the referee of the ten round bout here Monday afternoon between Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, and Billy Miske, the challenger, was expected today. Indications seemed favorable to the selection of Jim Duggan, of Philadelphia, a personal friend of Dempsey.

Dempsey looks to be really and says he is eager for the battle.

"I am as fit as I was for Willard," the champion said. "I feel as if I could go fifty rounds at top speed. I will be glad to get into the ring to convince my enemies that I am as good, if not better than when I defeated Willard."

The ruddy cheeked Miske is winding up his training apparently confident that he will hold the champion, even and that Dempsey will not knock him out. The challenger is finely trained to 100 pounds of bone and muscle.

Dempsey, before his workout yesterday scaled 180 pounds, which is taken to indicate, experts say, that he will enter the ring weighing 187, the same weight at which he fought Willard at Toledo.

Ruether Does Right Thing

Ruether's return, with a strong arm and good intentions, mean everything. Up to the time he went home, Ruether had won 16 games and lost ten, a percentage of .615, far ahead of the league percentage, and showing his great class as a southpaw slinger. Between now and October 2, Ruether should pitch at least six games, and should win not less than four of the six. That sort of work would turn the scales, almost clinch the pennant, and make Ruether doubly strong with the fans.

Fine Start In St. Louis

The Reds have certainly secured a fine start in St. Louis, coping the first two on an important series. Two more remain to be played in Rickey's town and then the teams will jump to Cincinnati, where two more will be played on Labor Day. If the Reds should top five of these games they will have an awful good chance of winning the pennant.

Luque Proves Arm Is O. K.

Luque's arm is alright. He proved yesterday when the game little Cuban blanked the hard hitting Cardinals for six innings and then retired in favor of a recruit. Luque is a bear-out on the mound and will be a big help to Moran in his last drive of the season.

BIG GAME AT OTWAY SUNDAY

The docks are all cleared and the stage set for the hot struggle expected when the McDermott and Otway ball teams clash on the latter's diamond Sunday afternoon.

There is much rivalry between the players of the two teams as well as their admirers and a great throng is expected to witness the contest for supremacy tomorrow. McDermott won the first game of the series recently and expect to make it a bitter dose by humiliating their opponents who are confident of reversing the verdict of the first combat and put them on even terms.

Ballenger will be on the firing line for McDermott and he will be opposed by Haepp, a huge side-wheeler, who Otway fans expect to turn back. The McDermott singlers with ease. The two teams will be set to work at 2:30 by Umpire El Walsh.

Local Solvay Team To Play Freeburn Club

The Portsmouth Solvay Coke company ball team left Friday midnight over the N. & W. for Eggleston, Va., where the Industrial league champions will clash this afternoon with the diamond warriors representing the Freeburn Coal company, which is controlled by the Solvay company.

There were 17 players besides Manager Clyde W. Barton in the party which left here last night on the invasion, all the players being taken on the trip to guard against accident and any emergency for it was realized that the champions will be up against a stiff proposition in confronting the crack coal miners. It is expected that Freeburn or Freeburn will do much duty in an effort to bring home the bacon.

The Freeburn team is scheduled to leave here for a return game on Sept. 12.

Only 8 More Home Games

Fans, would you believe it, the Reds have only eight more games to play at home. New York has 20 and Brooklyn 16. This does not bother the Reds as they play better away from home than they do on their own home lot. The Reds' games are 17 shapes. Watch them, stop a moment.

A QUEER SITUATION

THE politicians are seething with politics and the newspapers are full of the business, but the people refuse to become excited, it is doubtful if they are at all interested.

Look at the primary, in Michigan, Tuesday. In that state a Republican nomination is regarded as equivalent to a certificate of election, there were nine candidates for governor and yet in many of the precincts not more than twenty-five per cent of the regular party vote was polled. This too notwithstanding women had a right to the ballot also. They were far more indifferent to their newly acquired privilege than the men.

Possibly, after the revelations of corruption in the Newberry senatorial election the voters may have feared suspicion would attach to them, but that is not at all likely. The most probable reason is the voters are confused and disgusted. During the war they heard nothing but what a wonderful panacea a league of nations was to be for all quarrels and contentions of the world, now the war is over and a league of nations formulated they are confronted with a tumultuous outcry that the very thing they had to come to believe in is the most deadly cure the nations could take and they know not what to think or to do, so they just let things drift along.

MOST NEEDFUL INSTITUTIONS

As a general thing Americans do not regard their courts of law highly enough.

That's rather strange, for as a rule, American courts have occupied a high plane and that they are one of the most essential and vital branches of a popular government has been demonstrated a thousand different times.

We do not know that they have ever been more vital so, however, than in the present emergency. Lately there has been apparently precipitated upon the country a change that will alter its affairs of long established custom and—perhaps alter its destiny altogether.

Reference is had, of course, to the incorporation of woman's suffrage into the constitution. This is referred to as apparent because the actual fact of it has become a question of legal fact, the like of which has never before been called up for establishment. As is familiar, Tennessee was the thirty-sixth state of record to adopt woman's suffrage, thereby making it a constitutional condition. In a war of law technicalities the proponents of the amendment outgeneraled the opponents thereof and got the action of the legislators of Tennessee certified to the secretary of state of the United States, who promptly certified the national amendment was adopted. But here comes the lower house of the Tennessee legislature and rescinds its action of adoption.

This is precipitated the issue as to whether or not there has been a legal adoption. Ordinarily a branch of a legislature has a right to repeal or rescind net or resolution. Can a branch thereof do the same thing, at a continuing session?

That's the question and the problem. It is one for the courts to decide and it is well that we have them and of such character that the honesty and integrity of the conclusion at which they arrive is not to be questioned.

Newspapers sometimes perpetrate blunders as apt as they are startling. For instance the Cincinnati Enquirer, of yesterday, had an item headed: "Ohioan Outwits Bandits," which stated that a woman, formerly an Ohioan, was running for senator in New York against the Republican machine candidate. The headline was intended to go over an account of the holdup of an Ohioan in another state.

A little contents some people. Roscoe McCulloch, who ran a poor third for governor in the Republican primaries, says he is satisfied. Maybe he is right also. His vote cost him only about 12 1/2 cents a head.

Lodge can't stand the gaff. He is "sore all over" because of criticism of him by the Democratic national convention and regards it as out of place. Yet, he violated all the decencies by delivering as chairman of the Republican national convention a speech devoted almost solely to vituperation of Wilson.

Poor old Democratic party, it had to expose its rags to the whole world. The senate committee investigating campaign expenses is informed, that with the close of the San Francisco convention it had assets of $645 in cash and liabilities of $100,000.

How delightful it would be if some genius would devise a scheme of storing up these rains not needed against the days when they will be needed.

After reading the testimony of William H. Hays, whose fitness for the job has been more than duly exploited, one must, perforce, change his ideas of what are the requirements of the chairman of a national convention, as Mr. Hays shows a broad and altogether comprehensive ignorance of what his committee is doing in the way of raising funds. Still he knows and is sure of it that any statement made by Governor Cox regarding the activity of his committee in trying the fat out of Cox is untrue, because he writes it down to begin with and then reiterates it by word of mouth several times.

Wobbling around again Harding is going to form a league of nations of his own. Thirty-nine nations are in the original one. This leaves him Germany, Turkey and Russia as possible side-partners in the enterprise.

The state fair is on, bigger, better and brighter than ever. In all the country there is nothing to compare with it, in its line.

You never can tell. Three months ago Cuban planters were represented as rolling in wealth and refusing to sell this year's crop of sugar at 19 cents. Now they are begging the world to take it at 11 cents and the cruel world answers 8 cents or nothing.

The home watermelon is on the market. All watermelons are good, but there is none like the home variety.

Tonzi showed an amazing ignorance of the simplest rules and laws of finance, yet it was in the intellectual hub that he raked in millions upon millions to return in forty-five days with fifty cents profit.

THE DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

CECIL HAD FORGOTTEN THE KISSES, BUT LINDSEY HAD NOT

Well, we did a powerful lot of shopping, and another really did buy me some very fetching evening wraps, plus some wonderful furs, that made me look right in the shop. She is so good to me—especially now. Guess it's because she knows that she is going to lose me soon, and all that.

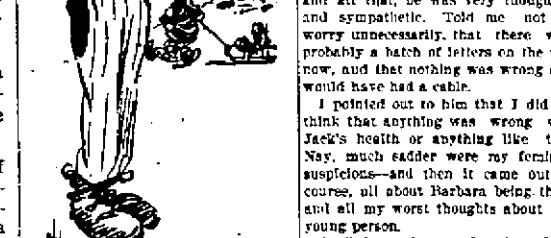

Oh, I forgot to say that I told Aunt Cecilia about meeting Cecil, and it upset her no end, much to my surprise. I finally asked her quite possibly why she was so worried just because poor old Cecil was on the spot. And she made answer, most mysteriously, "That's just it; he is on the spot!"

Now I ask you, isn't that an extraordinary remark from a sane woman? "And you're such an impulsive child," was another of her erratic remarks, to my young self.

But of course I soon realized that it was not the slightest use in the world to argue with a relative—a female relative, who is about to be married. I know when to stop, I do.

Just as soon as we had finished our shopping tour, mother and I filed us to

Cecil laughed when I had finished and assured me that if Jack could be attracted to that foolish creature, Barbara, more than he was to a girl like me, I was well rid of him. The men who had been chasing him were now very close but one of them saw the tiger's head coming up on the dock and he yelled to the others who immediately pressed back. As soon as he felt the firm dock floor under him and could see the animal's head as well as his eyes. Billy felt his courage coming back to him. He knew that he had to stand and fight. He felt that he could never run fast enough to get away from this powerful animal, and that before he could even turn and start to run the tiger would be upon him.

The husband writhed home much later than usual "from the office." He took off his boots and stole into the bedroom. His wife began to stir. Quickly the pale-stricken man went to the cradle of his first-born and began to rock it vigorously.

"What are you doing there, Robert?" queried his wife.

The two old folks had met for the first time since Volstead gave the country a piece of his mind.

"How's your house brew?" asked the first anxiously.

"Brother," chuckled the second, "you know what they say about Carnation milk—comes from contented cows? Well, that stuff in my cellar comes from discontented milkers!"

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—(Editorial—) There seems to be nothing left but to wait for the police clubbing without provocation on New York streets. Just now a crowd of people is gathered at the entrance of two mental policemen who carried two men into a hospital and left them each bleeding in one eye. The victims were not resisting. Miss Resetta Danan is a young musical comedy actress from California who is appearing with Fred Stone. She drove into one of the side streets in the Porters one night recently to park her car while she made a hurried visit to a stage door.

A bright particular fire flashed at "New York's Finest" told her through the side of his mouth to "get their outfit out there!" Miss Danan drove around the block left her car in another spot, saw that a taxicab—she had special privileges for some mysterious reason—parked where her car was and as she passed the policeman eyed in half jest: "Now does this suit you?"

It evidently did not. For with a muttered oath he jumped at the young girl, who is in and out of court, and told her she was under arrest. She was so dazed by the suddenness of the attack that she screamed and when she revived she was being dragged by the wrists through the streets to a police station.

She was denied the privilege of telephone calls to her sisters who were by this time distracted by her absence. Finally she was bundled into a padded wagon with three women of the streets and the pebbles of the underworld. It was a kind-hearted matron who upon looking her in a cell saw that she was merely a child—a girl of refinement and she interested so that she could telephone friends who promptly arrived with bail.

It is to be hoped that Miss Danan is of an influential family and has influential friends and her treatment has started a movement which, if carried out, will result in a league to protect themselves from the very servants whom they hire for protection. It might be added that Miss Danan's case was immediately dismissed before the presiding magistrate.

Blanch MacLaren used to be a reporter on the Evening World. Then he became publicity man for the largest movie palace in town. He was at a little dinner party one night when he confided to a friend that his ambition was to write fiction. "But I cannot do a story," he added. "The best thought I could and said he would gamble with him on his first year. He would allow him a drawing account and they were to split the first story check—if it arrived. Three months later MacLaren met his old friends who congratulated him for his stories. MacLaren explained as fast as he wrote them, "How do you like the writing game now?" asked the friend. "It is a tough life," sighed MacLaren. "I can plot like a villain now—but darn it I cannot write."

A group of young ladies were lighting up their first cigarette after the dinner in a Fifth Avenue colony. The other afternoon. Two strangers came in and occupied an opposite table. They appeared to be mid-western buyers. They ordered tea and then one took a flask from his hip pocket. He started to pour out a drink when at the same time both saw the group of girls. "Let's get out of here!" they said together. It seems they didn't realize that a tough place they were getting into.

The distinguished bride

Chlorine, the dusky queen of the kitchen, showed up at the reception table's loath with an air of determination on her midnight features.

"Ah, wants you should take care of this ranch cash for a while," she remarked, glancing down her savings of several years.

"Why, Chlorine," ejaculated the teller, who knew her of old, "I thought you always said you'd never trust the bank!"

"That's all right, don't all right, but do circumstances surround me de unt-ter makes me change mah mind. You see, I've givine get married an' Ah don't want dat much money round de house with no strange cullud man on de premises."

Old models

In a local shoe store a stout man appeared to be having considerable difficulty in finding just what he wanted. After showing him a dozen or more pairs the salesman blandly observed: "Now here is a pair that I think will suit you to perfection."

After examining the shoes, the stout man said: "I don't like them. They are too narrow and too pointed."

"Ah," retorted the salesman, "but they are wearing narrow, pointed shoes this season."

"Possibly," said the stout man, "but I am still wearing my last season's feet."

Realistic Art

The near-sighted connoisseur and his fashionable wife were doing the latest art exhibition with critical care.

"That's the ugliest portrait I've ever seen," he cried angrily, striding rapidly for a better view of the abomination.

"Come away, you fool!" hissed the woman, "you're looking at yourself in a mirror!"—Judge.

N. & W. Employees Get $100,000 Back Pay

"IT'S A RICH MAN'S GAME!"

Twenty five hundred employees of the N. & W. in East Portsmouth were made happy Saturday when their back pay checks for June arrived in time to be distributed for Labor Day week. The handsome sum of $100,000 was distributed among them.

Within the next week or ten days they will get their back pay for July when a like sum will be passed around. The new increase, which is about twenty percent will become effective August 1st.

This will be the last back pay check to be received. The pay roll of the N. & W. for every month is $500,000. It was stated at division headquarters Saturday at $250,000 every two weeks.

First Christians, Attention

Acting upon the request for a picture of the congregation of the First Christian church made by the World Call, the official organ of the Disciples of Christ in the various missionary organizations, Rev. Oakley, pastor of the local church, who returned Thursday from his month's vacation and who will preach both morning and evening, has issued a call for the entire membership to be present tomorrow morning, as the picture will be taken at the close of the study period. It is hoped a large crowd will be present for the church will get some valuable advertising from the picture that will appear in the World Call, inasmuch as it has a circulation of more than a quarter million. The picture will be taken by Virgil Fowler.

Complaints Are Heard By The Health Board

The only business considered by the City Health Board in session Friday afternoon at the mayor's office outside the regular routine was a complaint from property owners living in the vicinity of Second and Madison streets relative to sanitary inspectors attempting to compel them to tap into a sanitary sewer which is in bad condition, it is claimed.

The sewer in question, which was constructed by the former administration, was not properly put in and will have to be relaid before it will drain and the property owners declare that to force them to tap into the sewer

now will result in a worse sanitary condition than now exists. The discussion resulted in a request to the service department to investigate with a view of furnishing some relief.

J. Q. Adams, of Robinson avenue, appeared before the board in response to a citation by Sanitary Police William West to explain his failure to comply with orders to make sanitary taps. Adams asked for an extension of time to do the work because he has four taps to make and after much discussion his request was granted.

The schedule amounting to $935.93

was allowed and the usual monthly reports were read and filed. Health Commissioner O. D. Tatle reported that a number of dogs which had children were placed in quarantine for observation during the month but none developed rabies. His report on contagious diseases for August was: Scarlet fever 3, diphtheria 4, whooping cough 1, pulmonary tuberculosis 1, typhoid 2.

City Physician G. R. Micklethwait made 85 calls during the month and Plumbing Inspector William West made 287 inspections and collected $117.25 in fees.

Boy Scout News

People on Chillieth street yesterday were rather surprised to see a group of a half dozen boys holding large pasteboard triangles up to their eyes and signaling along them, to the top of a telephone pole. Not many recognized that it was a group of First Class Scouts, who were being taught how to measure height, distance, etc., by Scout Executive Gillfillan. He had them make large pasteboard triangles, and first showed them how to measure the height of buildings, etc., with them. Next he taught them how to measure the steepness of grades, by means of a couple of sticks such as a person could pick up by the side of the road, after which he took them across the Ohio, and showed them how to measure the width of a river, using nothing but a triangle, such as any one could make at any time out of a folded newspaper. This is scouting. The Scouts are taught to take the things they find at hand, and make use of them to take care of themselves, or to find out what they want to know. These First Class Scouts will be examined on what they have learned at the court of honor to be held on Wednesday, September 8.

Suspect Is In Jail

William Smith, aged 22, coal miner for the Portsmouth Refractories company at Firebrick, Lawrence county, has been arrested and lodged in the county jail at Ironton on suspicion of being the man who made a murderous attack on William Donley, aged 55, clay miner for the Harrison-Walker company at Firebrick last Monday night.

A shot was fired at Donley through an open window the bullet striking him in the back of the head while he was busy at his work. The bullet penetrated the skull but came out a few inches from where it entered. Donley has not been so well the last two days, the wound giving him considerable pain.

Smith is said to be the young man suspected the night of the shooting and the one for whom search had been made. According to Lawrence county officials Smith had been missing since the night of the shooting and he did not return to his slumy until Friday when he was arrested by Constable Carter of Lawrence county. When arrested Smith was at the Firebrick pumping station. He lived in a shanty about half a mile from the Douler shanty. The two men at one time were said to be good friends. Hebery was said to be the motive for the shooting. Smith denies his guilt.

O'Neal Settles Election Bet

"Harry L. Davis" for governor was the style of a bet that won a fine meal for Mayor J. S. Davis of New Boston. He and Raymond Haseltine last night were dined at a New Boston restaurant, when Thomas O'Neal settled for the bet that Davis wouldn't be nominated for governor, that he lost in August. Haseltine was a witness to the wager. A feature of the dinner was a large cake on which "H. L. D." was frosted.

Surviving Priests Hold Delightful Reunion

Rev. J. E. McGuirk, pastor of Holy Redeemer church has returned from Cincinnati, where on Wednesday he attended a delightful dinner arranged by Rt. Rev. Wm. D.
